Victims Of The Explosion On The Bennington Buried Together Sunday

THE ARMY AND NAVY JOIN HANDS

Uncle Sam's Sailors And Soldiers Honor The Brave Dead--San Diego Citizens Aid In The Ceremony.

San Diego, Cal., July 24.—They buried the gunboat Bennington's dead Sunday—forty-seven of them—in a common grave in the little military burying ground on the promontory of Point Loma.

All about them lie those who died in the nation's service in more trying times. Gravestones, yellow with age, bear the names of men who died at Monterey, in the Mexican war; others who gave up their lives in the conquest of California, who followed Commodore Stockton at old San Pasqual, or who wore the blue in the civil war.

Army and navy paid their last tribute no less sincere than the grief of the representatives of peace. From Fort Rosecrans came the 115th company, coast heavy artillery. From the city of San Diego the naval reserves, from the Universal Brotherhood's home on Point Loma a company of khaki-clad representatives, and from the government ship Fortune a dozen sailors. But the most impressive body of mourners was the fifty-two men from the battered Bennington. Beside these there were hundreds of civilians who brought their offerings of flowers to lay upon the graves.

Flowers Cover the Casket.
Thousands filed through the morgues in the morning with arms filled with flowers, dropping the blossoms upon the flag-draped coffins. Other thousands gathered in the plaza, whence the procession of coffin-laden wagons was to start.

Promptly at noon the long line of vehicles began the long journey around the bay to the burial place. There were no bands. The task was too big to be hampered by any usages of ordinary funerals. To reach the cemetery it was necessary to go ten miles up steep hills and along dusty roads. But there was a striking display of flowers and flags. Every one of the plain black coffins was draped with the nation emblem.

JAPANESE ENVOY IS IN CHICAGO TODAY

Arrives in Windy City from St. Paul on a Special Car This Morning.

Chicago, Ill., July 24.—Baron Komura, the Japanese peace envoy and his suite, arrived at Chicago at 9:40 this morning in the private car of President Hill, of the Great Northern.

He was met by the local Japanese committee of citizens, appointed by the acting mayor. The visitors were driven to the Auditorium hotel, where they rested a few hours before their departure for the east on the Pennsylvania limited this afternoon.

Former Minister to Mexico Sato, the head of the baron's staff, did the talking in behalf of the Japanese envoy. He said the people of Japan were not over anxious for peace unless the terms were entirely satisfactory. The appointment of M. Witte as Russian plenipotentiary was very popular in Japan, as Witte is thoroughly conversant with the problems to be discussed and is likely to be convinced by the logic of the situation. The active work in the peace negotiations will not begin until August 8th. The party were entertained at luncheon at the Auditorium by Mayor Dunne and a party of officials. At 2:45 the party left for New York. It is probable Komura will proceed to Oyster Bay to meet the President.

REFUSES TO SEND SPECIAL MESSAGE ABOUT INSURANCE

Governor Higgins of New York, Will Not Bring Matter Before Leg- islature Until Due Con- sideration Can Be Given.

New York, July 24.—Governor Higgins of this city, remains unmoved in his determination not to bring any phase of the insurance question before the present extraordinary session of the legislature. He reiterated today his belief that such an act on his part would be inadvisable. Gov. Higgins said that the published statement of former Gov. Odell, chairman of the republican state committee, which seemed to imply the opinion that the insurance situation should be called to the attention of the legislature at the extraordinary session now in progress was not apt to modify his opinion in the matter. "I have no question," the governor added, "that it is practically the universal opinion of the people of the state regardless of the party, that great evils have existed in the manner in which insurance business has been conducted in this case. It is the universal idea that they should be corrected at the earliest possible moment. It is easy for me to send a message to the legislature calling attention to the situation, but it would be a very difficult thing to complete a bill which would surely right the wrong. I am not sure that a man would be able with our present knowledge on the subject to draft an effective statute to meet the needs of the situation."

DANIEL LAMONT PASSES AWAY

Former Member Of Cleveland's Cabinet Is The Victim Of Heart Failure.

CLEVELAND'S SECRETARY OF WAR

Rose From A Newspaper Reporter To Secretary To Gov- ernor And President, And Afterward Owned Large Corporations.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 24.—Col. Daniel S. Lamont, who within the space of years numbered in a decade rose from the position of private secretary of President Cleveland to that of secretary of war of the United States, died suddenly at his country home at Millbrook, Dutchess Co. Heart failure was the direct cause of death.

Col. and Mrs. Lamont were out driving in the afternoon and he appeared to be enjoying the best of health. After dinner he complained of feeling ill, and Dr. Stewart of New York, who is a guest at the house, immediately went to his aid. The physician diagnosed the case as an attack of heart failure, and in spite of the heroic treatment, Mr. Lamont passed away within half an hour.

At his death bed were Mrs. Lamont and two daughters, Frances and Jessie. Several guests at the Lamont home were also present when the end came.

Rises to Distinction.
Col. Lamont had a remarkable career in journalism and politics, and rose rapidly from the bottom rung of the ladder to a position of national distinction. He was born at Cortlandville, N. Y., Feb. 9, 1851. He began life as a newspaper reporter, and went to Albany, early in his career.

NEW YORK ASSEMBLY HAS APPOINTED COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE INSURANCE

Work Will Be Done Jointly With Committee From the State Senate.

Jamestown, N. Y., July 24.—Speaker Nixon of the state assembly today announced the appointment of a committee of five to investigate jointly with the senate committee, the life insurance affairs of New York.

to report the proceedings of the state assembly. In 1882 he became a supporter of Grover Cleveland, then a candidate for governor of New York.

Col. Lamont's close relations with President Cleveland began at Albany when Mr. Cleveland was governor, and Mr. Lamont was a political reporter. Lamont accepted Mr. Cleveland's offer of office as private secretary and military secretary at that time, and the friendship then cemented grew stronger as the years passed by. While engaged in the newspaper profession he filled the place of legislative reporter and managing editor of the Albany Argus, of which paper he was one of the proprietors for some years.

Private Secretary to President.
After the election of Mr. Cleveland to the Presidency two years later he named Mr. Lamont to the position of private secretary. He served in this capacity till the close of Cleveland's first term, in March, 1889.

As private secretary to the President, Colonel Lamont was brought in contact with practically all the public men who called at the White House, and the President relied considerably on his judgment in matters political. While here Mr. Lamont made friendships which he retained during his later service in the cabinet. His family entertained largely and were always prominent in the social affairs of the capital.

Removing to New York after Cleveland's first administration, he became associated with the late W. C. Whitney in big traction plans and soon attained prominence as a financier.

Gains Cabinet Portfolio.
When Cleveland's second term began in 1893 he named Mr. Lamont as Secretary of War, in which capacity he served throughout the administration.

After his retirement he again went to New York city, and resumed his business operations. At the time of his death he was vice president of the Northern Pacific railway, and a director and trustee in many railroad and financial corporations. He leaves a widow and two daughters. He was a member of many New York clubs.

SECRETARY WILSON HEARS COTTON MEN

Growers Ask for a New Report on the Acreage, to Correct the Altered Statistics.

Washington, July 24.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson today gave a hearing to a committee of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association, who asked that there be a new report on acreage because of the recent "leak" and consequent disturbance of business. The committee informed Secretary Wilson that while the altered report given out secretly benefited but a few speculators in cotton, it has had a most demoralizing and disastrous effect on manufacturers and buyers of cotton. A new report is therefore necessary to restore confidence and to get the business on a solid basis once more.

Willett N. Hayes, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture and Acting Chief of the Bureau of Statistics has a plan which he hopes will satisfy the cotton men and avoid the expense of getting out a new account. His plan is simply to take the original figures turned out to the department, and give them out as the correct report. But since it has been asserted that the figures were altered, it is not believed that this plan will be satisfactory.

BASE BALL TALK ABOUT THE STATE

CHANGES MADE IN THE STATE LEAGUE TEAMS LAST WEEK.

BELOITIS IN SECOND PLACE

Green Bay Team Is Showing Up Very Well—Freeport Lands on the Toboggan Slide.

La Crosse has strengthened her hold on first place in the State League this week and is now the favorite for the flag, with Beloit a close second in the calculations. Freeport, after successive defeats, has lost heart and has not yet succeeded in getting off the toboggan. Wausau and Oshkosh have played each other to a standstill and have maintained their positions.

At Green Bay. The most dangerous team in the league just now is Green Bay, despite its position at the tail end of the procession. It will not rise to first place, as to do so it would have to win almost all of the remaining games, and it is believed the other teams are too strong to permit this to happen. It required half of the season for Green Bay to get a good team together after having made a poor start and indifferent success with two managers, but, with President Powers' assistance, a winning team was finally formed and in the last two weeks it has got into shape to cope with the other clubs. The Green Bay men won ten out of twelve games between July 5 and 21, and if the same kind of work is continued another two weeks the club will be out of the end position and threatening the teams in the first division.

At Wausau. A shake up of the Wausau team has occurred this week as the result of a poor showing in the latest trip on the road. Manager J. J. Corbett was released and John Matt, who has been alternating between first base and the backstop position, has been given the management. The Wausau team had been playing an even game all year until the last trip, when a number of men were injured and out of the game a few days and the club lost a large majority of its contests. These defeats, coming just at the time when Freeport's slump was expected to put Wausau into first place, caused dissatisfaction at Wausau and a change in management was decided upon.

New Umpire. Manager Corbett, on retiring from the Wausau team, was appointed umpire in place of Fay, who has been released. Fay was let out on account of insubordination, consisting mainly in too intimate association with the players, culminating in trouble in the last La Crosse-Freeport series. President Powers was in the grand stand in last Sunday's game, and when the Freeport players began attacking the umpire he was of the opinion that Fay failed to deal with the situation properly and therefore decided on a change. Mr. Powers has determined to have clean ball and insists on the umpires not practicing with players, keeping away from them when off duty, not fraternizing with them, and dealing with trouble energetically when it arises. The appointment of Corbett will prove a popular one throughout the circuit.

Sells a Player. Second baseman Klock has been sold by the Freeport management to La Crosse, and he has been placed in the outfield. Outfielder Miller has been released. As the result of recent changes La Crosse, instead of being the weakest hitting team in the league, now contests with Beloit and Green Bay for the honor of having the hard batting team.

Oshkosh 2, Wausau 0. Oshkosh won the fourth consecutive game and the last of the series with Wausau here Sunday. The only two runs were made on a wild throw by Wausau's shortstop. Score: RHE Oshkosh . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 2-3 0 Wausau . . . 0 0 0 0 0 0 0-0 2 6 Batteries—Warner and Moore; Casper and O'Brien.

Beloit 2, Freeport 1. Freeport, Ill., July 24.—Beloit took the last of the series of games Sunday, the score being 2 to 1. Score: RHE Freeport . . . 1 0 0 0 0 0 0-1 1 1 Beloit . . . 0 0 0 0 0 2 0-0 2 6 Batteries—Schubert and Killen; Aiken and Buckwalter.

Green Bay 4, La Crosse 2. La Crosse, Wis., July 24.—On a combination of hits and errors in one inning Green Bay carried off a game from La Crosse Sunday. Score: RHE La Crosse . . . 1 0 0 0 0 0 1-0 2 8 Green Bay . . . 0 0 0 0 1 0 0-4 5 2 Batteries—Jones W. Dodge and B. Dodge; Rosinski and Connors.

EAGLES DEFEATED EDGERTON EASILY

Run-Up Score of 15 Against the 4 of Edgerton—Heavy Hitting by Ruhland.

In a game, closer in many particulars than one played two weeks ago between the Eagles of Rockford and Janesville, the local Eagles yesterday afternoon at Crystal Springs Park defeated the city team of Edgerton. The score was 15 to 4, and though it was larger than if the number of errors had been less, it about tells the class of playing done by each team. Good batting was a prominent feature of the game, two home runs, two three-base hits and five two-baggers being made. The visitors used three pitchers in the game. Vensky occupying the box in the first inning, M. Hallett in the second and L. Hallett the remaining. Connors of the local negotiated an excellent game on the third bag, gluing all that came his way. Riley refused to allow Connors to take all the honors of the infield, making a number of valuable put-outs and assists. He also did some first class stick work. Dunwiddle played a gilt edge game considering the time he has been off the diamond. Ruhland's batting was the feature. First time up he drove a long fly for a home run, the second time he nailed out a three-bagger and the third time he made a two-base hit. Allen walked twice, was hit by the pitcher and found the sphere for a home run in the eighth.

Was Formerly Superintendent of Schools Here—Also Studying Dairy Farming at Ft. Atkinson. The following from the Jefferson County Union, a weekly paper published at Fort Atkinson, in regard to a former superintendent of schools in this city will be of interest to Janesville people:

"Principal D. D. Mayne of the Minneapolis Agricultural School, came Tuesday for a short visit in town. Mr. Mayne is preparing a number of text-books and is being assisted in his work by Miss C. J. Smith. Mr. Mayne is also looking up points in dairy farming being determined to make a model dairy farm out of a 160-acre tract he owns at Maple Lake, 40 miles west of St. Paul and which is being conducted by his two sons. He will look it up as fast as possible with thoroughbred Guernseys. One of his objects in coming this time was to look over the herd and buildings on the W. D. Hoard farm."

LATE FASHIONS DESCRIBED BY MARIAN MARNE TODAY

New York Letter To The Gazette On The Latest Fancies in Dress...Of Much Interest To Women.

By the time this letter is before you I will, Providence permitting, be on the ocean European in quest of the latest models in Parisian frocks, and meantime I have illustrated for you in this letter the latest and most practical of models in midsummer jaunting frocks, suitable for land or water travel.

Mohair in a handsome shade of dark blue is the fabric of which this chic gown is composed. Strappings of the mohair are accentuated by several rows of white stitchings. Priestley cravenette, this mohair coat and skirt worn over a pretty white "tub" waist, with the style of sleeve immortalized by old daguerotypes, is ideal for the wear and tear of a summer trip. Cravenette stamped on the back of the cloth makes it possible for one to face the elements on shipboard or on land, with a consciousness that one can arrive spick and span, which in these days of fine grooming and trigness, is of paramount importance to her who does not wish to be singled out as "dowdy."

Every woman today who desires to be considered one of America's "smart dressers"—a reputation universally conceded to Milad Americana—must have the trig appearance from head to foot of either being taken care of by a maid, or, which is more general, possess the "infinite capacity for taking

Labor Notes

The employers in the building trades of the Rhenish Westphalian district have dismissed within a fortnight 30,000 workmen who belonged to labor organizations.

The recent conference of Trades and Labor Councils in New Zealand passed resolutions urging the establishment of state ironworks, woolen and flour mills, clothing and wool factories, and the nationalization of the mineral wealth of New Zealand.

In keeping with the plan adopted two years ago of distributing annually a bonus the American Smelting and Refining Company has paid to its employees about $200,000. The distribution is made on the basis of a percentage of the surplus earnings.

TRAMPS WILL HOLD A GENUINE CONVENTION

Plan To Meet in Madison in the Near Future for a State Conference.

Madison is to be the scene of a tramp convention if the word of a common dusty traveler of the side door Pullman service can be relied upon. It is to be the state convention of the Weary Willies. They will assemble for the occasion from all parts of the state and enjoy a day or two of feasting and deliberation. Rock Cut, south of the city proper, is to be the scene of the headquarters according to report and here will be the banquet board and council chamber of the men who hale work. Three wearies came into the Gazette office seeking newspapers, particularly Madison ones. They wanted to know the lay of the land and what was doing. If their stories are true the great conference was billed for Janesville first but has been changed to Madison.

"Are they any fish in do lakes up there, mister?"

Upon being told that there were, he further queried:

"Don't anyhow! Kick if we catch a few? Well, you see, de rest of do fellers sent us ahead to find out how things looked for a meeting. Bill over there will take a fast freight tonight for Milwaukee and bring de whole gang down there and Mike will haul the delegation from Chicago. We want heave much kick from Madison so I guess de fellers will come all right, fer we come to der conclusion dat we're strength in a bunch and so we're goin' ter unite and hold our first state convention. We'll elect officers, de same as other concerns. De fellers will wear badges and after de business of de meetin' will be over we'll take a cruise about de lake, fish some and rest up a bit. Oh, you needn't report this to der perlice, fer we ain't a going ter disturb no peace and bother folks. De fellers will bring their own grub and you said we could fish so they won't have any kick coming. We are a peaceable lot."

"How many do you expect will participate in de convention?" he was asked.

"If all do fellers come that said they was, we'll have some 200 there I shud judge. Our people wanted ter go to Madison, cause dere they were allays treated square. The perlice been good to us, give us feed now and then, and lodgins too, if it was stormy outside. Can't say as much about de sheriff. Since de new feller got ter runnir de county jail up dere, it got so it weren't worth while for us guys ter get in, fer de grub has been mean and he makes us work."

"You are, I suppose, sworn enemies of work," was suggested.

"Wall, de tramp replied, "we don't do nothing unless we have ter and den we quit as soon as we can."

"How do you get along during de cold winters?"

"De ye spose dat we're going ter give away der secrets of our profession? No, sir! It took me 20 years ter get onto all de tricks and if ye want to find out about de business John de gang. We'll initiate you at de convention. De only charge is fer our badge on a course which learns ye how to interpret de bulldog signs good woman, bad woman, our conductors, and those who will take a quarter fer lettin' ye ride 100 miles."

"How is it that you travel without expense?"

"O, we know de conductors and de brakemen along der roads. De ye know us and mightly few der dem refuse ter take a half dollar fer not seegin us when we're on de bumpers. Dose dat ain't in with us we got listerd and never bother. De fellers know all de freight trains in de country and know who runs 'em. Dat's how we ride fer nothin'."

ATTORNEY GENERAL GIVES HIS DECISION

Certain People Can Use Passes; Others Cannot—The Discrimination.

The railroad commission and attorney general are being flooded by letters from public men of the state in relation to mileage used by them on contract for services rendered. The attorney general has given the following opinion:

"That when prior to the passage of the anti-pass law, a public officer had entered into and partially performed a contract whereby in consideration of certain services such officer received from railroad company mileage or transportation on the railroad lines free of other charge, it would not be a violation of the law for such officer to use such transportation, but that no such agreement can lawfully be made by any public officer in the future."

Another opinion was given at the same time in relation to the publication of the state laws by weekly newspapers. It was held that a semi-weekly paper would not come within the provisions of the law any more than a daily paper and that a semi-weekly paper would not receive pay from the state for publishing the laws.

WISCONSIN CREW HAS CHANCE TO WIN

Andy O'Dea Is To Say Good Bye to the Wisconsin Crew—Re-joining in the State.

Andy O'Dea, who has had charge of the crews of the University of Wisconsin for the last five years and whose failure to bring out a winning crew at Poughkeepsie races has aroused so much criticism of his methods, will not return to the university next year under any condition. This is the statement made by a member of the varsity eight.

O'Dea is said to have expressed his determination to quit at Poughkeepsie. It is believed that he will return to Australia, where his brother, Pat O'Dea, is located. Andy has been connected with the University of Wisconsin eleven years, and has had charge of the naval department as coach. Two of his crews secured places in the Poughkeepsie races.

The resignation of O'Dea has not yet been received, but the general impression among the students here is that his almost certain dismissal as trainer of the football squad will be followed by his resignation as coach of the crews. When seen today Graduate Manager George F. Downer, who would be the first to know of a resignation, said:

"I know nothing about O'Dea's plans. I have not received any resignation from him, and except for reports I have not received any information that he will resign."

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON

Contagious Blood Poison more thoroughly poisons the blood than any other disease. Every part of the body is affected when the virus becomes entrenched in the circulation; red eruptions break out on the skin, the mouth and throat ulcerate, glands in the neck and groins swell, the hair falls out, copper-colored spots appear on the body, etc.

I was afflicted with blood poison, and the best doctors did me no good, though I took the treatment faithfully. In fact I seemed to get worse all the while. I took almost every so-called blood remedy, but they did not seem to reach the disease, and had no effect whatever. I was disheartened, so it seemed that I would never be cured. At the advice of a friend I then took S. S. S. and began to improve. I continued the medicine, and it cured me completely.

Hamlet, N. C. W. B. NEWMAN.

So highly contagious is this disease that many a life has been ruined by a friendly hand shake or from using the toilet articles of one affected with the poison. To cure this hideous and hateful disease a constitutional remedy is required. S. S. S. goes down to the very root of the trouble and forces out every particle of the virus from the blood and cures the disease permanently. S. S. S. is purely vegetable and drives out the trouble, root and branch, and no signs of it are ever seen again.

Those who have been cured by S. S. S. can feel assured that none of the poison is left in the blood to transmit to innocent offspring. The entire body is built up and the blood made pure, rich and healthy by this great remedy. Book with instructions for home treatment and any medical advice desired will be given free of charge.

ROOT AND TAFT.

Bihru Root is reported to have said
to a friend who expressed the opinion that Mr. Root should have declined the secretaryship of state in order to hold himself in reserve for the higher honor of the presidency, that the present opportunity seemed to him to be the substance, while the remote possibility was the mere shadow, and he preferred to seize the substance rather than chase after a shadow.

Whether Mr. Root said this or not,
it certainly well represents his character. He combines in an eminent degree the common sense of the practical man of affairs with the idealism and imagination of the theorist and thinker.

Mr. Root, it may be taken for granted, entertains no illusions as regards his political future. The secretaryship of state with its immense possibilities for international fame is the opportunity at his hand. It is a work well within the scope of his intellectual gifts and legal training, and is thoroughly congenial, bringing him into direct contact with the great movements that make the history of the world. For this work he has given up the leadership of the New York bar with its enormous professional emoluments. He will enter upon his duties with no other thought than to solve each problem in turn,
leaving the future, so far as his political career is concerned to take care of itself.

It is likely that such a policy as
that will bring him nearer to the presidency than any active seeking for that honor, but it is altogether premature to speak of Mr. Root as the successor of President Roosevelt. That he measures up fully to the intellectual and moral standards of that supreme office may be granted.
That he is today one of the three or four strongest men in the republican party, to which he must of necessity
look for a presidential nomination, cannot be disputed. Moreover, there are multitudes of republicans throughout the country who already look upon him as the best possible leader of the party in the next presidential campaign. That his services will enhance his reputation and strengthen him in the esteem of the American people can hardly be doubted. But even this does not insure him the presidential nomination.

Mr. Root is a type of statesmen highly admired for their public services, but who, nevertheless, do not inspire any special enthusiasm as candidates. Mr. Root could never be the popular idol that Mr. Roosevelt has become. Moreover, he is a citizen of New York, and New York, while a great power in politics, is not a maker of republican presidents. It is true that Mr. Roosevelt is a New Yorker, and that he led the republican party to a magnificent triumph
last year, but it should be remembered that Mr. Roosevelt is the first presidential candidate of the republican party ever taken from the state of New York, and that even he entered through the door of the vice-presidency by reason of the assassination of McKinley. The very fact that Roosevelt is a New Yorker would operate against Mr. Root in a contest for the presidency, for the west would argue that, New York having had the president for eight years, it would be right that the candidate should be taken again from this part of the country. If Mr.
Root had become candidate of his party for governor last year and then elected by a tremendous majority, he would, we think, stand a better chance in the next national convention than he does now, occupying even the highest seat in the cabinet of President Roosevelt. But Mr. Root declined to run for governor, and it is a fact that he has never occupied an elective position and that the only time he ever ran as a candidate for office—and that a judicial office—he was defeated.

There is another man in the cabinet
whose prospects for the presidency seem to be even brighter than those of Mr. Root. Secretary Taft is a citizen of Ohio, a state prolific in presidential candidates. From the territorial point of view, he occupies a more advantageous position than Mr.
Root. He possesses many of the intellectual qualities which make Mr.

Root so distinguished, and he has in addition thereto a certain personal magnetism and a capacity for making many friends that are so attractive in a presidential candidate. Moreover, it is quite probable that Mr. Taft possesses the regard of President Roosevelt quite as much as even Mr.
Root, with whom he has been associated for many years. It is true that the president has publicly declared that Mr. Root is the ablest man now engaged in the politics of the world, but it is known that he also entertains
the highest possible opinion of Mr.
Taft. If there should develop a contest between Mr. Root and Mr. Taft for the presidential nomination in 1908, it would be difficult for the president to take sides, and it is altogether likely that he would maintain a strict impartiality. We doubt very much whether in accepting the secretaryship of state Mr. Root has any sort of understanding with the president that he shall be the Roosevelt choice for the presidency.

It is rare indeed that a cabinet has possessed so much presidential timber
as that which now surrounds President Roosevelt. Besides Mr. Root and Mr. Taft, it is necessary to mention in this connection Secretary Shaw and Secretary Cortelyou, both of whom have certain elements of strength which may bring them to the front at the next national convention.
Moreover, there is a possibility that the president himself may again be pressed into service. We say this with full appreciation of the fact that Mr. Roosevelt has announced his determination to retire from office at the expiration of the present term. There is no reason whatsoever for doubting the entire sincerity of this declaration. No one who knows Mr. Roosevelt will question for an instant that he means what he says. There is no
"strings" to his refusal to be considered as a candidate for another term. Even if he was a candidate, there would still operate as a power against him the tradition against a third term. But after all this is said, the people are stronger than even presidents' declarations and century traditions. It is possible, we do not think it is probable, that conditions would so shape themselves that there would be a popular demand for Mr. Roosevelt's re-election of such force that the president himself
could not withstand it.

New York Tribune: In view of the return to wood pavements in a part of the streets of lower New York, certain facts as to woodpaving tabulated in "The Sanitary Record" are of great interest. From these it appears that in provincial towns in England the cross-streets soft-wood pavement has a life of from twelve to fifteen years, and hardwoods from fifteen to eighteen years. At St. Pancras, London, where there is a traffic of 411,318 tons per yard of width per annum, the greatest wear of the Australian wood jarrah was 0.18 inch, or less than one-fifth inch per annum. The best woods for paving purposes, according to London experience, are the Aus-

to promise well.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The announcement from the attorney general to the effect that farmers who distribute their own produce, from house to house, do not come under the provisions of the new peddler's license law, is gratifying. The opinion, while unofficial, will be accepted as the proper construction of the law unless someone should conclude to make a test case. The farmers, who make a practice of selling vegetables and other farm and garden products, will therefore be allowed to continue as before, a situation which is as satisfactory to the aver-

Superior Telegram: The fact that a blackmailer has been arrested in New York who is said to have worked the fashionable set for blackmail money variously stated as aggregating from $200,000 to a half million dollars is awakening much interest.
The blackmailer was getting up a directory of the elite of New York and sold copies at any price from $500 to $10,000 each, according to the wealth of the family and the nature of the scandal that could be dug up detrimental to the family name. The threat was made that unless the price was paid the scandal would be published in Town Topics. The success of this scheme is more of a reflection upon the courage of the victims than upon their morals. It is an old saying that the coward dies many deaths and the brave men but one. There are few families in any land that pass through a single generation unscathed
by scandal. Human nature is weak and the average family connection embraces many people.

by a train.

Robert Barr's Best Story

We have secured the rights for "Over the Border," by Robert Barr, author of "Tekla," "Jennie Baxter, Journalist," etc., and will begin the serial publication

IN OUR NEXT ISSUE

Robert Barr has won an enviable place among the successful authors of the day. He has written nothing better than

Over the Border

Critics regard it as his masterpiece. Following are the opinions of a few taken from a large number of complimentary reviews:

It is a fine, gay romance, with a yellow haired cavalier and a lady whose locks are like the raven's wing. The story goes with a sweep and swing that take the reader gallantly to the end and give him a pleasant time by the way.—NEW YORK TIMES.

"Over the Border" is a strong story of one of the most interesting periods of English history, and there are no weak spots in the story.—INDIANAPOLIS SENTINEL.

A genuine old fashioned romance in which the hero is both physically and intellectually a giant, the heroine beautiful beyond the dream of a Mohammedan, and with no faults visible to the eye. It deals in swordplay, hairbreadth escapes,
wild riding and love.—CINCINNATI
TIMES-STAR.

A thrilling romance of the struggle between King Charles the First of England and Oliver Cromwell.
The love story is an intricate one,
but it is so well told that it is followed with ease, and the climaxes hold one spellbound.—CHICAGO EXAMINER.

This is one of Mr. Barr's best books. It is not a complicated story. The figures of the drama are not numerous, but they are original and striking.—THE CHURCH
STANDARD, PHILADELPHIA.

Robert Barr's "Over the Border" is a dashing, clean, sword and pistol's love story, in which we meet
King James, Strafford, Cromwell, Pym and one of the nicest pairs of lovers that ever galloped through dark nights and hairbreadth escapes.—NEW YORK OBSERVER.

H. S. M'GIFFIN HEADS GOLFERS

CHOSSEN PRESIDENT OF THE STATE ASSOCIATION.

NEXT TOURNEY COMES HERE

Or Goes to Tusculum Club Grounds at Green Lake—Yule of Kenosha, State Champion.

Janesville gets the next state golf tournament providing the wealthy Chicago and St. Louis residents who constitute the Tusculum Golf Club of Green Lake do not, in the meantime, extend an urgent invitation to hold it on their links. According to the general scheme of rotation, Oshkosh should have extended the bid but was not in condition to handle the tourney. When President Wilson Lane of the local association received a communication to this effect he immediately wired the local representatives at LaCrosse that the Janesville Club would take care of the meet in 1936. The proffer was gratefully received and accepted with alacrity Saturday evening. Sunday the information came that the Green Lake course might be thrown open to the state contest and while no official action was taken it was generally agreed that the directors, in that event, would transfer the contest thither. Janesville was the scene of the first state tournament four years ago and the local club provided the championship cup which was won by Vose of Milwaukee and bore numerous other expenses which are now sustained by the association, in order to get it started right.

W. H. Yule Champion. Of the Janesville players who participated in the games at La Crosse, Orion Sutherland, Al. Schaller, Leo Brownell and Chester Morse have returned. Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McGiffin will spend several days of this week in La Crosse and vicinity. W. H. Yule of Kenosha, easily won the state golf championship by defeating F. W. Jacobs of Madison 8 up and 7 to play in a 36-hole round. Yule's playing was steady throughout the game, and had not Jacobs laid three successful strokes he would probably have gained a score of 37. Fred Hankerson of La Crosse was awarded the consolation cup by default, Wyatt of Oshkosh withdrawing Friday night.

The Kenosha "golfing gang" which includes Yule, Cavanaugh, Chester Allen and B. M. Pettit, continues to be the strongest aggregation of players in the state. From the showing made in tournaments up to date, Oshkosh is designated as "promising" and Janesville is credited with the possession of a strong list of golfers who can make their way up, if not to the top, sufficiently to worry the average contestants. Appleton, Green Bay, and Marinette are negligible quantities thus far.

H. S. McGiffin at the Head. At the meeting Saturday evening H. S. McGiffin of this city was elected president of the state association; J. P. Baker of Janesville, secretary and treasurer; Judge O. T. Williams of the Blue Mound Country Club, Milwaukee, vice president; and the following directors: R. J. Fowle, Lake Shore Country Club, South Milwaukee; F. H. Graham, Eau Claire Country Club; G. W. Yule, Kenosha Country Club; John Stevens, Jr., River View Golf Club, Appleton; C. C. Chase, Algoma Country Club, Oshkosh; F. N. Bacon, Maple Bluff Golf Club, Madison; F. R. Mitchell, Racine Country Club; John De Moss, Tusculum Golf Club, Green Lake; and Hamilton Vose, Milwaukee Country Club.

Mixed Foursomes Here Tomorrow. The meet at La Crosse proved a great success in every particular. A $200 entry fee was levied and there were over fifty entries, netting a sufficient sum to pay for the cup and prizes. If Tuesday is a pleasant day there will undoubtedly be a large attendance at the local grounds tomorrow. There will be mixed foursomes for prizes and other special events may be arranged.

The batteries were: for the Sluggers, Hill and Muenchow, and for the Giants, Brown and Rissman.

NEW REQUIREMENT FOR THE MEDICAL MEN

Must Make Report on All Accident Cases—Orders Have Been Issued.

All physicians have been notified to report all accidents treated by them to the health department in the future, according to provisions of a law passed by the last legislature. In the past there has been no way of obtaining accurate statistics in regard to the number of persons hurt by street cars, railroads, automobiles, etc., as those responsible for the trouble attempt to keep the matter from the public. No report is required by the new law on accidents which do not incapacitate the victim from pursuing his usual vocation for a period of two weeks.

George McKee's gasoline launch "The Lorena" came to Janesville by wagon yesterday. This side of Milton Junction a wheel of the vehicle Chas. Ward was driving came off and he fell, spraining his right arm. The launch was taken out of the water at Newville. There was a report to the effect that the craft had a mishap but broke, one of her timbers but this is denied by Capt. McKee. He says that there was nothing whatever the matter with the boat. He feared that the water below Indian Ford was too shallow in some places for clear sailing and decided to send her back overland.

CAUGHT FISHING WITH SET LINES

FIFTEEN SPRING BROOKITES SUR- RENDERED TO DRAFAHL.

HEARD A HONEYED VOICE

Calling From the Shore, and Consternation Seized Five Boat-Crews—Fines Amounted to $75.

Below the cotton mills just before daybreak yesterday morning Deputy Game Warden Peter Drafahl, who was appointed to the service on Thursday after several weeks' interregnum, pounced upon a fleet of five row-boats whose occupants were busy lifting set-lines and unloading the catch of pickerel, bass, catfish and carp. It was a goodly catch and the fisherman's eyes glistened as they raised the heavy cord which extended from shore to shore.

Three Nights' Vigil. The warden had heard a whisper of what was going on, in some of his rambles, and had been watching three nights for the offenders to come and gather in their unlawful harvest. There were some fourteen or more men and boys in the boats who turned a pale, sickly hue when they heard a gruff voice calling and saw the threatening figure of the officer standing out darkly in the cold, gray light. The crews of three of the boats capitulated readily but those led by Messrs. Sullivan and Hudson deserted their craft and fled.

Fined Seventy-five Dollars. Warden Drafahl then sent for a wagon and placing his men under arrest, obtaining their names, and giving them notice to appear in municipal court this morning, loaded the boats, fishing paraphernalia, and fish thereon and started for his home in Afion. This morning Spring Brook streets were practically deserted, a large proportion of the residents in that section having journeyed to the court room to "see the fun." It was arranged that one man from each of the crews shall appear, his companions assisting in making up the purse. Paul Blum, E. D. Graft and Charles Luck, all said to be painters by trade, pleaded guilty to the charge and paid fines and costs amounting to $25.00 each. Meanwhile search is being made for the Sullivan and Hudson contingents who appear to have found it advisable to desert Janesville for a few days. The fines and costs were all paid, the warden himself advancing $3 to make up one of them and keep the unhappy fisherman and the crew under his wing from going to jail where they would be of no use to anybody.

"They Were Mostly Carp." The warden was not very communicative regarding the details of the capture but intimated that some more developments on the Rock river were to be expected. When asked as to the size and quality of their illicit catch, the fishermen spoke with levity, asserting that they were all carp. Mr. Drafahl spoke a warning word to the size of catfish and black bass which might be angled for with hook and line. The former must weigh 3 pounds net weight and 1½ pounds dressed weight, or over, and black bass must be eight inches in length.

WAR ON OFF-COLOR SOUVENIR POSTALS

Postoffice Department Giving Attention to Those Which Are Profane and Obscene.

The fellow who blows in his penny for a postal card that bears the inscription, "I'm having a devil of a time," with the picture of his Satanical majesty on it, will be greatly disappointed when he learns that the stamp affixed carried his cheerful message to Postmaster General Clegg, instead of to his chum at Sunnyside. In the postoffice department's crusade against impurity in the mails, attention has been directed to questionable souvenir postal cards. Daily the offices of the general superintendent of the city and rural free delivery are in receipt of scores of these pieces of brilliantly printed cardboard having a tendency toward the immoral, obscene, or profane, sent in by postal employees all over the country in conformity with the instructions of the postmaster general that such missives must not be delivered to the persons addressed. Hundreds of designs just a trifle "off color," but which may be seen exhibited in windows of reputable stores, are among the taboos.

IN THE BISHOP'S CARRIAGE

By MIRIAM MICHELSON

(Copyright, 1904, by The Bobbs-Merrill Company.)

I DON'T remember much about the first part of the lunch. I was so hungry I wanted to eat everything in sight, and so happy that I couldn't eat a thing.

But Mr. O. kept piling the things on my plate, and each time I began to talk he'd say: "Not now—wait till you're rested, and not quite so famished."

I laughed. "Do I eat as though I was starved?" "You—you look tired, Nance."

"Well," I said, slowly, "it's been a hard week."

"It's been hard for me, too; harder, I think, than for you. It wasn't fair to me to let me—think what I did and say what I did. I'm so sorry, Nance—and ashamed. So ashamed! You might have told me."

"And have you put your foot down on the whole thing; not much?"

He laughed. He's got such a boyish laugh in spite of his chin and his eyeglasses and the bigness of him. He filled my glass for me and helped me again to the salad.

Oh, Mag, it's such fun to be a woman and have a man wait on you like that! It's such fun to be hungry and sit down to a jolly little table just big enough for two, with carnations nodding in the tall slim vase, with a fat, soft-footed, quick-handed waiter dancing behind you, and something tempting in every dish your eye falls on.

It's a gay, happy, easy world, Maggie darlin'. I vow I can't find a dark corner in it—not to-day.

None but the swiftest place in town was good enough, Obermuller had said, for us to celebrate in. The waiters looked queerly at us when we came in—me in my dusty shoes and mussed hair and old rig, and Mr. O. in his working togs. But do you suppose we cared?

IT MADE ME SO PROUD.

He was smoking and I was pretending to eat fruit when at last I got fairly launched on my story.

He listened to it all with never a word of interruption. Sometimes I thought he was so interested that he couldn't bear to miss a word I said. And then again I fancied he wasn't listening at all to me; only watching me and listening to something inside of himself.

Can you see him, Mag, sitting opposite me there at the pretty little table, off in a private room by ourselves? He looked so big and strong and masterful, with his eyes half closed, watching me, that I hugged myself with delight to think that I—I, Nance Olden, had done something for him he couldn't do for himself.

It made me so proud, so tipsily vain, that as I leaned forward eagerly talking, I felt that same intoxicating happiness I get on the stage when the audience is all with me, and the two of us—myself and the many-handed, good-natured other fellow over on the other side of the footlights—go careering off on a jaunt of fun and fancy, like two good playmates.

He was silent a minute when I got through. Then he laid his cigar aside and stretched out his hand to me.

"And the reason, Nance—the reason for it all?"

I looked up at him. I'd never heard him speak like that.

"The reason?" I repeated.

"Yes, the reason." He had caught my hand.

"Why—to down that tiger trust—and beat Tausig?"

He laughed.

"And that was all? Nonsense, Nance Olden, there was another reason. There are other tiger trusts. Are you going to set up as a lady-errand and right all syndicate wrongs? No, there was another, a bigger reason, Nance. I'm going to tell it to you—what!"

I pulled my hand from his; but not before that fat waiter who'd come in without our noticing had got something to grin about.

"Bek pardon, sir," he said. "This message must be for you, sir. It's marked immediate, and no one else—"

Obermuller took it and tore it open. He smiled the oddest smile as he read it, and he threw back his head and laughed a full, hearty bellow when he got to the end.

"Read it, Nance," he said, passing it over to me. "They sent it on from the office."

I read it.

"Mr. Fred W. Obermuller, Manager, Tausig-

"Dear Obermuller: I have just learned from your little protégée, Nance Olden, of a comedy you've written. From what Miss Olden tells me of the plot and situations of 'And the Greatest of These'—your little great—I judge the thing to be something altogether out of the common, and my secretary and reader, Mr. Mason, agrees with me that properly interpreted and perhaps touched up here and there, the comedy ought to make a hit."

"Would Miss Olden take the leading role, I wonder?"

"Can't you drop in this evening and talk the matter over? There's an opening for a fellow like you with us that's just developed within the past few days, and—this is strictly confidential—I have succeeded in convincing Braun and Lowenthal that their emily is a foolish personal matter which business men shouldn't let stand in the way of business. After all, just what is there between you and them? A mere misunderstanding that half an hour's talk over a bottle of wine with a good cigar would drive away."

"If you're the man I take you for you'll drop in this evening at the Van Twiller and bury the hatchet. They're good fellows, those two, and smart men, even if they are stubborn as sin."

"Counting on seeing you to-night, my dear fellow, I am most cordially,"

"I. M. TAUSIG."

I dropped the letter and looked over at Obermuller.

"Miss Olden," he said, severely, coming over to my side of the table, "have you the heart to harm a generous soul like that?"

"He—he's very prompt, isn't he, and most—"

And then we laughed together.

"You notice the letter as marked personal?" Obermuller said. He was still standing beside me.

"No—was it?" I got up, too, and began to pull on my gloves; but my fingers shook so I couldn't do a thing with them.

"Oh, yes, it was. That's why I showed it to you. . . . Nance—Nance, don't you see that there's only one way out of this? There's only one woman in the world that would do this for me, and that I could take it from."

I clasped my hands helplessly. Oh, what could I do, Maggie, with him there, and his arms ready for me!

"I—I should think you'd be afraid," I whispered. I didn't dare look at him.

He caught me to him, then.

"Afraid you wouldn't care for an old fellow like me?" he laughed. "Yes, that's the only fear I had. But I lost it, Nance, Nance Obermuller, when you hung that paper down before me. That's quite two hours ago—haven't I waited long enough?"

Oh, Mag—Mag, how can I tell him? Do you think he knows that I am going to be good—good! that I can be as good for a good man who loves me, as I was bad for a bad man I loved!

WISCONSIN CYCLONE CAUSES DEATH OF TWO
Destroys Barn and Farm Machinery in Racine County Besides Doing Damage to the Crops.

Racine, Wis., July 24.—With a roar that was heard for five miles a cyclone struck the northern rim of Racine county Sunday, killing two men and damaging property and crops to the extent of $100,000.

The cyclone came from the southwest, and at its first dip struck the large barn of Adolph Meisner, which was torn to pieces, the debris with grain and farm machinery, being scattered 200 feet. Trees were uprooted and blown away, the damage on this farm alone amounting to $5,000. In every quarter grain is ruined, but no other buildings were destroyed. For miles trees can be seen uprooted and fences down.

At a farm in Thompsonville a workman whose name was not known was struck and killed. Near Union Grove Adam Hunter, an old farmer, was picked up by the storm and his neck broken. At the Haumerson brick yard lightning struck a shed and six men were stunned.

Two barns were struck and their roofs were wrecked. At least a dozen cattle were killed and the telephone wires in the district were blown down.

LIFE CONVICT KILLS HIMSELF.

Murderer After Defying the Officers Plunges Knife Into Side.

Marquette, Mich., July 24.—Emil Walz, a notorious murderer, who was serving a life sentence in Marquette prison, ended his life. Sent to his cell for an infraction of the rules, he defied the officers to remove him when summoned to the office for examination, and when Deputy Catlin, armed with a stool, stepped forward to platoon him to the wall, Walz plunged a knife he had been brandishing into his side.

BURY JONES WITH A VERY PLAIN SERVICE

Remains of the Late Admiral Laid at Rest in Annapolis Today.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.] Annapolis, Md., July 24.—At ten this morning the body of Paul Jones was brought ashore and placed in a vault of the Naval Academy grounds. The simple ceremonies occupied but forty minutes.

Following the admiral's salute fired by the shore batteries the casket containing the remains were lowered from the Brooklyn to the deck of the tug Standish, where a detachment of the marines from the flagship surrounded it as a guard of honor. Meantime every available sailor and marine had been sent ashore in small boats to form a guard at the landing. The French cruiser LaGrahre arrived likewise. When the Standish arrived at a special constructed float, the body was transferred to the sea wall where the honorary pall-bearers took their post at the side hearse in which the casket was placed. The sailors and marines escorted the hearse to the temporary vault where a hollow square was formed while a short service was read by Chaplain Clark and the customary salute fired. As the vault was being closed trumpeter began sounding taps. The ceremonies were witnessed by ten thousand people.

WHEAT BREAKS AND CONFUSION REIGNS

Chicago Wheat Market Has Serious Drop This Morning—Reports Were False.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.] Chicago, Ill., July 24.—A five cent break in wheat on the board of trade today is causing a panic. The break followed the discovery that the pessimistic reports from the northwest are incorrect and a big crop is in sight. July, which closed at .87, Saturday, sold this morning for .87; later it reacted to .88.

THREE VERMONT TOWNS ARE ON CANADIAN SOIL.

Boundary Commission Finds That Uncle Sam's Chinese Detention Station Is Just Over the Line.

Newport, Vt., July 24.—Three towns in northern Vermont with a total population of 4,500 that have always supposed they were a part of Uncle Sam's domain have been proven to be located in Canada. The towns are Richford, East Richford and Stevens Mills.

Some time ago a joint surveying commission composed of J. B. Baylor and sons, and P. W. Staples of Washington, representing the United States, and Engineers E. C. and E. Rainboth, and F. W. King of Ottawa, was appointed to inspect the boundary line between the United States and Canada. As a result of their labors a strip of land several miles in length and from one-half to one mile in width is found to belong to Canada.

On this land are located the three places mentioned. Richford has been one of the important outposts on the Canadian border, the Chinese detention station being located there. Steps will undoubtedly be taken to fix the boundaries so as to give Canada a recompense or the territory stated.

MISSOURI'S RIP VAN WINKLE

After Sixty Years' Absence He Revisits Versailles.

Versailles, Mo., July 24.—Thomas Merriott, who left this county sixty years ago, surprised his friends and relatives by returning here for a visit, claiming that he is but 94 years old. There are dozens of Merriott families in Morgan county, and the older ones remember Thomas when he left here, and they declare he cannot be less than 115 years old. He has been living in Tennessee since leaving Missouri, but spent last winter in southern California, and is now on his way to the Tennessee home.

BOY KILLS HIS HALF-BROTHER

Quarrel over Privilege of Driving Team Results Fatally.

Warrenton, Mo., July 24.—Charles M. Wood, aged 15, shot and killed his half-brother, John Wood, 23 years old, at the farm of their father, David Wood, about eight miles west of here. The boys had quarreled about driving a team to the hayfield, and their father escaped in favor of John. Charles escaped.

NEWS OF THE STATE IN BRIEF.

James E. Watson of Indiana will speak at Monaca assembly at Madison on the afternoon of July 29.

The blacksmith shop and engine and boiler room of the Union Lime company burned at Brillion on Saturday.

The Northern Chautauqua assembly will close at Marinette Monday evening with the play "The Little Minister," with Mabel C. Church as Baby and Romeo Frick, the tenor, as Gavin.

The story sent out from Appleton to the effect that four men had been poisoned at Tigerton by drinking beer from a keg which contained the carcass of a pine snake proves untrue. A call of the roll yesterday at Tigerton and vicinity showed all present.

The Food Value of a Soda Cracker

You have heard that some foods furnish fat, other foods make muscle, and still others are tissue building and heat forming.

You know that most foods have one or more of these elements, but do you know that no food contains them all in such properly balanced proportions as a good soda cracker?

The United States Government report shows that soda crackers contain less water, are richer in the muscle and fat elements, and have a much higher per cent of the tissue building and heat forming properties than any article of food made from flour.

That is why Uneeda Biscuit should form an important part of every meal. They represent the superlative of the soda cracker, all their goodness and nourishment being brought from the oven to you in a package that is proof against air, moisture and dust—the price being too small to mention.
